COOLIE TRAFFIC.

SINCE the notorious Tetarios case was concluded by the costly victory of the coolie traders, rumour has been busy with the name of Senhor Banavidus, the South American gentleman who was not prosecuted for perjury nor 'run-in' for slave-trading. Wild stories have gone about as to how the present flourishing young revolution in Brazil would affect his firm, the Compania Metropolitana de Rio Inneiro, and as to the chances of the fact | he possible;"

and powerful Telarios being impressed a an armed cruiser, and the cargo of Macao coolies enlisted as soldiers in the civil war! By latest advices Senhor BENAVIDES Was reported to have gone to Shanghal, and to be intent on tackling the Chinese authorities, and endeavouring to enlist the services of the Tsung-II Yamen in his behalf; for it is an open secret that the exposures as to the Telarior business led to the Kwangtung authorities very strongly opposing the continuation of the trade, so that even the first shipment from Macao was only made under great difficulties and at a very heavy loss instead of the anticipated profit. So it happened, If current report may be trusted, that Senhor BENAVIDES had to suspend his negotiations for the charter of other vessels to follow the Telaries, and he then endeavoured to propitiate the Son of Heaven. But the Chinese are not so easily deluded as many people believe.

In cases of this kind there is always certain class of pseudo-easuists-mostly with pecuniary interests-who urge that the British Government, or any Goverment, ought not to interfere; that trade will find a channel somewhere, and that a demand must result in creating a supply by S. WATSON & CO., LD. hook or by crook, so that to crush out of Hongkong means to put money in Hight that they can shave you while asleep, withthe pockets of traders in other ports, not hampered by any such over-conscientious legislation. Logically the same argument applies to gambling, burglary, piracy, and almost every questionable pursuit on earth. But, right or wrong, the principles | the topsz, harden the sand and petrify it in a of British state policy are sufficiently firm, and will not be altered at the request of a handful of unscrupulous adventurers, whether they have money behind them or not. It is not very long since simpleton named SANDERSON EDMUNDS without money or influence-unless hi friend and patron of the China Mai supplied the want-innocently proposed to open up a coolle trade between Hongkong, Mexico and Jamaica, via Canada, nominally, though the country really in out from Singapore; having called in at by the P. & O. Co.'s steamer Rosetta on Sunday view was more probably the Land the Geary Act. He found his mistake out, and railed at British conservatism. Now, again, a gentleman named GARDNER is trying on a somewhat similar game, with Honolulu in view; but the Hongkong Government has flatly refused to allow a single coolie to be embarked for that port unless as a free emigrant, and so another attempt is to be made in Macao. remains to be seen how the venture will fare this time. Merchants and others interested in promoting the commerce of Hongkong are tempted to cavil at this course, and to protest against trade of any sort-assuming the one condition of remunerativeness to somebody-being driven over to our neighbours; but a dispassionate examination into the question in each case shows very good reasons for the action of the Hongkong Government. The only fault to be found is that sometimes that action fails. The Tetarios case, though nominally a victory for the coolie traders against the perty both here and in Klang, as well as in authorities, in reality cost the winners such a pile of money that it amounted to disaster. Still, there is no telling what might be the result of a second attempt; and the Government would do well to carefully consider whether the law, AT the meeting of the Sanitary Board on stringent as it was thought to be, cannot be made yet stronger-not in the direction of severity of penalties, but in the greater perfection of its precautions, so that no the slightest loophole or leak may remain.

SUPREME COURT.

IN ORIGINAL JURISDICTION.

(Before Chief Justice Fielding Clarke.) November aand.

THE LEGAL GOLD-MINE. Wong Tsol Hi, who has already contributed an almost incalculable amount of legal business during the past year, was sued by Cheung Hung Shing for $2,750 alleged to have been lent to him personally on a promissory note. Mr. P. E. Pollock, instructed by Mr. H. L. Dennys, was for the plaintiff, and Mr. J. J. Francis, Q.C. instructed by Mr. C. D. Wilkinson, was for the defendant. Mr. Pollock stated that the money was lent by plaintiff to defendant's firm, the Him Loong pig-dealing house, on defendant's personal guarantee to repay by 24th November last. The reason was that the firm was in difficulties and was being sued by three separate creditors in the Summary Court, and one in the Original Court; it was agreed that Wong Tsol Hi, for India, up to the 3rd November, for two the only partner who seems to have had any money in this unlimited liability concern, in London in sterling. Tenders must specify the should pay $5,500 in full discharge of all the claims then being brought against him." He accordingly paid half in cash, and as that was all that he could raise just then, the plaintiff was induced to provide the rest, and pay it over to the Him Loong in order to satisfy the creditors. The defendant now objected to the promissory note on the ground that no consideration could be proved; he disputed the assertion as to plaintiff having handed over the sum of $2,750 to the Him Loong. The defence was that the alleged loan was only a paper transaction and that there was no ground for the present claim. Plaintiff, in giving evidence, contradicted bimself so much that at last his lordship had to threaten him with instant committal if he did not stop lying.

Ultimately the case was adjourned until Monday next.

THE "ROSETTA'S" MAIL. TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HOROKORO TELEGRAPH." SIR,-Reverting to the letter you published yesterday respecting the damaged mail received Saigon suffering from "coal fever " brought on. last, in which I called attention to the slipshod manner in which the Post Office officials had dealt with the partially destroyed correspondence, note in this morning's issue of the Daily Press a painfully laboured paragraph which savours strongly of official inspiration and is evidently designed as a shield, or "let down," for the local Postmaster. This inspiration states that "it is intended to publish a list of the addresses given at the head of the letters' and that * * * " the work of copying out all the addresses from which the letters have been sent will necessarily occupy some time." It is further stated that any one is at present allowed to peruse any of the damaged (private) letters which the Post Office has considerately placed on public what I would like to know is whether you, as settle in Burmah. Editor of the Telegraph, have yet received any official communication on this subject from the Post Office, and if so why you have suppressed publication of the same? . Thanking you for favouring my yesterday's note with space in your columns. Yours faithfully, A RESIDENT.

Hongkong, 22nd November, 1893. The gross incompetency of the Hongkong Post Office officials, even in affairs of ordinary routine, cauna longer be ignored. The Government must take action for reform without further delay, otherwise an indignation meeting on the Public Recreation Ground will bring matters to a climax. No official intimation has yet been made, and the Postmaster General, for whom, by the way, we have the highest respect, cannot but be awarded the severest censure for his failure to notify the difficulty at the earliest moment, From personal inspection of the wreckage now lying in the post office we conclude that the accident on the Rosetta must have been a very bad one, and the work of the P.O. officials of course very difficult : and, as it coincides with the busiest time of all the year

-the Christmas mail and New Year parcels -there may be some excuse for the oversight As to the manner of dealing with the damaged letters, we cannot find any fault at all, after most careful investigation; and when even we cannot find fault, things must be pretty good. Editor, Hongkong Telegraph.]

authorities were fairly auccessful, but of late the trade has again been pushed by Chinese with considerable success, for they now know that the Government is empowered, under the Ordinances, to seize and confiscate such "stuff" only when evidence is forthcoming to prove that it is intended for consumption within the confines of the colony. So long as the people engaged in this nefarious business export their subbish, they cannot be prosecuted here. Now, seeing that the trade in this rubbish is a palpable fraud, that the transaction of the business connected with it is carried on is the colony, and that the people who are victimised are British subjects, we submit that it would not be a straining of the principles of legislation if the Ordinance could be amended so as to meet such a cise as the one in point. Failing this, the Indian authorities should be fully informed of the wiles of the heathen Chinee, in order that steps may be taken by them to protect their subjects much in the same way as our Australian cousing have frequently done recent years in respect to this very trade spurious tea from China, Experts have long ago condemned "lie" tea of every description as unfit for human consumption, and that should be a sufficient raison d'ire for decisive and farreaching action in the premises.

THE PROGRESS OF ALUMINIUM

The world has had its age of stone, its age of copper, its age of iron, and now, according to a French scientist, it is about to have its age of · aluminium. Fair weather friends are plentiful enough, goodness knows; the kind that drop in on you, talk to you, bother you, and borrow things from news in the capital alone would amount to you; the kind that never bring back that five shillings, but sak for five more " just to make it ten," that breed of friends, I say, are as thick as files over a sugar bowl. But the sort who stick by you when you are down on your luck, who put their shoulders against your cart wheels at a nasty spot in the roadwhy, you want to hunt for them with spectacles and a lantern. Yet, after all, such friends do exist, and forty of them turned up, without any hunting, when Mr. Knowles needed them badly. How it happened he tells us in the following statement.

I. Jonathan Knowles, of Lotton Fen, near Ramsey, Hunts, do solemnly and sincerely declare as follows: -I was always a strong healthy man up to April, 1889, when I began to feel ill. At first I felt dull, low-spirited and had no energy. I had a poor appetite and for days and days could eat nothing. VICTORIA What I did eat lay like lead on my chest. I had s gnawing, sinking feeling at the pit of the stomach, and was constantly sick, vomiting up a green fluid. At times the heaving and straining was so great that blood came up. My hands and feet were always cold, and clammy sweats used to break out all over me. I never folt warm even when I sat before the fire. Next a hacking dry cough, with severe pains at my chest and lungs, began to trouble me, and my breathing became short and hurried. I soon got so weak that I had to give up my work, for I could only walk a few yards without stopping to take my breath. The cough and shortness of breath got gradually worse and worse, and I began to lose flesh rapidly. At first a doctor from Bamsey came to see me, he gave me medicines and cod liver oil, but held out no hope of my getting better, after attending me three months he recommended me to go to the hospital. I got a recommendation from my master, Mr. David Corney. Wellington House, St. Mary's, and went to the Peterborough Infirmary. I had to be taken in a trap to the railway station, such was my weak state. The doctors at the Infirmary had me stripped and sounded my lungs, and said one of my lungs was almost gone, and that I was in a consumption. They gave me medicines; also cod liver oil, but nothing did me any. good. After being under their care and treatment for three months I was discharged as incurable. My lost three stone in weight. I got up every day but had to sit in an arm-chair all day long. I could only move a few yards and that with the ald of a stick. In this half-dead, half-alive state I continued for nearly two years and was looked upon as doomed. During the latter part my wife did not think I should live from one week to another, and friends who came to Aluminium is easily, worked. Its lightness it. Having been so long out of work I could not get on with the medicine and gradually got stronger and stronger, and got back to my work. Of course ! took a long time before I properly got up my strength.

I can now do any kind of work, and feel so strong or mud of the fiel's and highways. France that I often walk 14 miles a day, for which I thank claims to be favored more than other countries God and Mother Seigel's Syrup. Everyone in the district is astonished at my recovery. I tell them all of clay specially adapted to its manufacture, for that Belgel's Syrup has brought me back to life. I S. S. "FLINTSHIRE," which reason the French are already beginning wish others to know of what has done so much for FROM HAMBURG, ANTWERP, LONDON me, and I give permission to the Proprietors of the A little circumstruce has lately caused a grave | medicine to make what use they think fit of this

(Signed) (Bigned) L. J. Descon, A Commissioner to administer JONATHAN KNOWLES.

You take notice of course that Mr. Knowles makes consumption they were mistaken. The fact that he Doctors have no business to make such blunders and scare patients out of all courage and hope. But there! Ignorance is ignorance, no matter where you aluminium than on other metals, and that the tion and dyspepsis—nothing else. The cough and loss of flesh were symptoms of that, not of the mand that all our common maladies signify that our machinery for digesting food is out of order. It is so when it doesn's look so, the same as when it does.

> That is the secret of the success of Mother Seigel's Syrup. It cleanses the cistern and the pipes, and then the water of life runs clear and sweet. Those 40 sensible friends believed in that.

Mr. J. Knowles is a very respectable hardworking pound, and the surface indicated four inches than. He is a farm labourer and has a small allotment of land, which he cultivates. The persons who subscribed to get him the Syrup are principally farm labourers and farmers residing in the district of power contains more than from 22 to 3 per cent of salt it really amounts to nothing. One of the greatest difficulties armoured ships have to contend with is rapid deterioration by the action of salt water and marine life of one kind and children could see him gradually dwindling dway, and heredication of salt water and marine life of one kind and children could not take their meals for tears when or another. The weight is plea a sections they saw the dreadful condition Mr. Knowles was in-Disction, since the halls have to be made proper. Ou they expected lesing him every week- Adele
